

Investigation into CIA Killing of Former U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld

United Nations, August 9 (RHC)-- U.N. Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon is expected to propose reopening an inquiry into allegations that former U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was assassinated by a South African paramilitary organization supported by the CIA and British intelligence.

Dag Hammarskjöld was the U.N.'s second secretary-general and died in a plane crash in 1961. The South African government has announced the recent discovery of decades-old intelligence documents detailing the alleged plot. The CIA has, of course, denied involvement.
