

U.S. Homeland Security Department Compiling List of Alleged Crimes by Haitian Immigrants

Washington, May 11 (RHC)-- The U.S. Homeland Security Department has admitted that it's been compiling lists of alleged crimes committed by Haitians who received temporary protected status, or TPS, to legally reside and work in the U.S. after an earthquake devastated Haiti in 2010.

Up to 55,000 Haitians could be forcefully repatriated to Haiti if the Donald Trump administration refuses to extend the protected status on July 22nd.
