

Cyclone Devastates Rohingya Muslim Refugee Camps in Bangladesh

Dahka, June 2 (RHC)-- In Bangladesh, thousands of Rohingya Muslims from neighboring Burma were left homeless after a cyclone devastated their makeshift refugee camps.

The storm prompted the evacuation of the Cox's Bazar district on the coast, but many Rohingya refugees had nowhere to go. They were left without shelter after nearly all of the camps' 10,000 thatched huts were flattened.

Rohingyas have long faced persecution and violence in Burma, where they are denied citizenship.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/131521-cyclone-devastates-rohingya-muslim-refugee-camps-in-bangladesh>

Radio Habana Cuba