

Cuba to Attend Expo 2017 International Exhibition in Astana

Havana, June 8 (RHC)-- Cuba will attend the Expo 2017 International Exhibition in Astana, Kazakhstan.

With the themes “Future Energy”, the Expo will serve as a platform for exchanging experiences all over the world in the field of alternative energy, a sector that is growing rapidly these years.

The Cuban Chamber of Commerce issued a communique, saying that at the world exhibition, the Cuban delegation will seek to form alliances with foreign partners towards developing joint renewable energy projects.

Expo 2017 International Exhibition will begin next Saturday, June 10th and runs through Sunday, September 10th, with the presence of exhibitors from more than 130 nations.
