

Cuba to Attend Global Game Jam

Havana, January 19 (RHC-PL)-- Cuban developers will, for the fourth time, participate in the Global Game Jam, the world's largest, in which they will create an entertaining video game.

According to an article in the daily Granma newspaper, developers will try to create fun, creative and experimental products at the Havana-based University of Computer Sciences, from January 26 to the 29th.

Sixty-four teams and 320 participants have been registered for the event, the Cuban newspaper said. Programmers, designers, modelers, musicians and illustrators are working to create their own video game in 48 hours during the Global Game Jam.

The event has a global scope, and the Cuban institution will be synchronized with more than 700 sites around the world.
