

Cuban and Thai parliaments strengthen ties

Havana, May 17 (RHC)-- A delegation from Thailand visited the headquarters of the National Assembly of People's Power, the Cuban Parliament, here in Havana on occasion of the 60th anniversary of diplomatic relations between both country's legislative bodies.

The visiting delegation was headed by Bilaibhan Sampatisiri, president of the foreign affairs commission of the Asian country's legislative assembly.

The head of the foreign relations commission of the Cuban parliament Yolanda Ferrer, offered the distinguished visitors detailed insights into the just completed general elections here in our country. She stressed that top on the tasks list of the new legislature are working on a constitutional reform bill, overseeing the work of government institutions and entities and addressing the concerns of the people.
