

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg says she plans to serve 5 more years on bench

Washington, July 31 (RHC)-- U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg says she plans to continue serving on the bench for at least another five more years.

Speaking with reporters in Washington, she said: "I'm now 85. My senior colleague, Justice John Paul Stevens, stepped down when he was 90, so think I have about at least five more years."

Justice Ginsburg has been a fierce critic of President Trump. She's already hired law clerks to serve through 2020.
