

U.S.-led coalition killed 1,600 Syrian civilians in Raqqa

New York, May 13 (RHC)-- A major new investigation by Amnesty International and Airwars has revealed the U.S.-led military coalition in Syria killed more than 1,600 civilians during the 2017 offensive to oust ISIS militants from the city of Raqqa.

Amnesty is calling on the U.S. and coalition nations to fully investigate the mass civilian casualties.
