British MP suspended for grabbing and shoving climate activist

London, June 24 (RHC)-- British parliamentarian Mark Field has been suspended after he grabbed a female climate protester by the neck and shoved her.

The incident occurred when dozens of Greenpeace demonstrators staged a protest at a speech by British Finance Minister Philip Hammond.

Police are now investigating to determine whether Field should be charged with assault.

Radio Habana Cuba