

Asian Americans say Trump stoking racist attacks with Chinese Virus rhetoric

Washington, April 3 (RHC)-- Elected officials around the United States are demanding that President Donald Trump and Republican lawmakers apologize for repeatedly calling the novel coronavirus the “Chinese virus.” Trump’s repeated use of the term came as Asian Americans across the U.S. reported a rash of hate crimes, including a number of assaults on Asian New York City subway riders.

New York state Senator John Liu told reporters: “We have this long legacy, not a great legacy, of being termed the 'Yellow Peril' from over 100 years ago. And unfortunately, Trump calling this the 'Chinese virus' only perpetuates this notion of Yellow Peril.”

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/218702-asian-americans-say-trump-stoking-racist-attacks-with-chinese-virus-rhetoric>

Radio Habana Cuba