

South Korea's coronavirus cases decrease

Seoul, June 26 (RHC)-- South Korea's latest coronavirus data suggests it's getting a grip on the clusters that have emerged in Seoul in recent weeks.

The Korea Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (KCDC) said that the country had added 28 new cases, 23 of them local infections. That's down on Wednesday's 51 cases and Tuesday's 46.

Most clusters are linked to delivery firms and small churches.
