

Israeli protesters keep up pressure on Netanyahu over corruption

Protests against Israeli prime minister. (Photo: Press TV)

Tel Aviv, September 13 (RHC)-- Thousands of Israelis protested against Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu in Jerusalem over his alleged corruption and the government's handling of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The crowd rallied outside Netanyahu's residence, blowing whistles, waving signs and flags and calling for his resignation. Smaller protests were held along bridges at major intersections in cities across Israel.

Israeli media estimated that about 10,000 people attended what has become a weekly demonstration in Jerusalem. The protests built up over the summer as COVID-19 cases spiked.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/233978-israeli-protesters-keep-up-pressure-on-netanyahu-over-corruption>

Radio Habana Cuba