

White House gave wealthy donors private briefing on pandemic's threat to markets

White House gave wealthy donors private briefing on pandemic's threat to markets. (Photo: AP)

Washington, October 16 (RHC)-- The New York Times reports that during the early days of the pandemic in February, the Trump administration gave wealthy Republican Party donors at the Hoover Institution advance warning about the threat posed by the coronavirus — even as President Donald Trump and White House officials made rosy statements minimizing the threat of COVID-19 to the public.

According to the newspaper reports, the insider warning came just ahead of a stock market crash.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/236954-white-house-gave-wealthy-donors-private-briefing-on-pandemics-threat-to-markets>

Radio Habana Cuba