

Cuban President welcomes Bolivia's return to regional integration

Havana, November 21 (RHC)--Cuba's President, Miguel Díaz-Canel, today hailed Bolivia's return to Latin American integration, interrupted by the de facto government that ended this month.

On Twitter, the President welcomed the South American nation in its return to the Bolivarian Alliance for the Peoples of Our America-People's Trade Treaty (ALBA-TCP), the Community of Latin American and Caribbean States (Celac), and the Union of South American Nations (Unasur).

Bolivia returns to ALBA, CELAC and Unasur. Welcome sister nation to Latin American integration, he wrote.

In a recent interview with Prensa Latina, Bolivian Foreign Minister Rogelio Mayta expressed his satisfaction with his country's resumption of full participation in these mechanisms.

Instances such as ALBA, UNASUR, and CELAC are attempts at integration, brotherhood, and understanding that only in unity will we be able to face the challenges that the future imposes on us," Diaz-Canel said.
