

Cabrisas begins official visit to Venezuela to strengthen bilateral relations

Cuban Deputy PM, Ricardo Cabrisas, arrives in Venezuela.

Havana, January 29 (RHC) Cuban Deputy Prime Minister and the co-president of the Intergovernmental Commission of the Cuba-Venezuela Comprehensive Cooperation Agreement, Ricardo Cabrisas, is on an official visit to Venezuela.

He is expected to meet authorities of the Bolivarian government, Telesur reported.

The Cuban delegation also includes Rodrigo Malmierca, Minister of Foreign Trade and Investment; Nicolás Liván Arronte, Minister of Energy and Mines; Martha Wilson González, Minister-President of the Central Bank of Cuba and Roberto López, Vice-Minister of Foreign Trade.

Venezuelan Executive Vice President Delcy Rodríguez recently held a working meeting with Deputy Prime Minister Cabrisas in Havana. During the encounter, they reviewed the strategic cooperation projects for 2020 and evaluated proposals for this year.

Radio Habana Cuba