

Janitors in U.S. unite to demand justice and fair working conditions

Justice for Janitors Day actions all week to demand safety, fair pay, healthcare, immigration reform, and respect in the workplace.

Miami, June 16 (RHC)-- Janitors, maintenance and security workers around the United States and the world marked Justice for Janitors Day and are holding actions all week to demand safety, fair pay, healthcare, immigration reform, and respect in the workplace.

In Miami, unionized workers have been on strike since last Thursday over low wages, pay discrimination and unfair labor practices. Miami janitor Walter Osores told reporters: "We need to work two or three jobs. Right now I'm only sleeping four or five hours to be able to support my family. It's unfair. We want a better quality of life and for them to invest in us, in essential workers."
