

Tropical Storm Elsa hits Florida, killing at least one person

Tropical Storm Elsa hits Florida.
(Photo: John Pendygraft / Tampa Bay Times via AP)

Tampa, July 8 (RHC)-- At least one person was killed and several others injured Wednesday after Tropical Storm Elsa made landfall on Florida's northern Gulf Coast.

After barreling through Florida, Elsa is weakening to a tropical storm or tropical depression as it moves through Savannah, Georgia, and Charleston, South Carolina. Elsa will bring impacts such as rain and wind up into the Mid-Atlantic and Northeast by the end of the week.

Over the weekend, Elsa crashed through the Caribbean, killing at least three people and causing major damage to homes and other buildings.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/263241-tropical-storm-elsa-hits-florida-killing-at-least-one-person>

Radio Habana Cuba