

Canada reopens border to vaccinated U.S. travelers

Canada has reopened its border to U.S. travelers for the first time since March 2020.

Ottawa, August 11 (RHC)-- Canada has reopened its border to U.S. travelers for the first time since March 2020.

Visitors to Canada will need to show a recent negative coronavirus test result and must prove they're fully vaccinated against COVID-19 — with exemptions for unvaccinated children under the age of 12.
