Cuba prioritises animal welfare

Havana, Sep 16 (RHC) Despite the complex epidemiological situation that Cuba is experiencing due to Covid-19, the will of the State and the Government is to guarantee animal welfare. A task that is being carried out by a Temporary Working Group made up of representatives of all the organisations and institutions involved in the issue.

The specialists informed that they are working on improving the reception of complaints, for which the established places have been extended to include the departments of Attention to the Population, the delegations of Agriculture and the Centres of Agricultural Health in all the provinces.

They explained that these entities will have the mission not only to receive complaints, but also to manage them with all the actors involved and provide answers to the population.

On the other hand, they pointed out that they keep working to recovery of veterinary clinics and practices.
