Díaz-Canel met with representatives of Mexican organizations in solidarity with Cuba

Mexico, Sep 17 (RHC) The First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba and President of the Republic, Miguel Díaz-Canel Bermúdez, met in Mexico with organizations and representatives of solidarity with the island.

According to the Twitter account of the Presidency of Cuba, the Cuban leader said that we have many reasons to thank you, adding that it was unforgivable not to see each other today and share emotions.

You inspire us to commit more to the Cuban Revolution, stressed the head of state during his meeting with friends from the largest of the Antilles.

During the meeting with Mexican friends, the president spoke about the current situation of the island, and according to the Presidency, voices of support, gratitude and encouragement for the Revolution were heard.

On the same social network, Cuba's Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs, Anayansi Rodríguez Camejo, wrote that the fraternal meeting was full of emotions and feelings of brotherhood.

Rodríguez Camejo reported that in the front row was Antonio del Conde "El Cuate", a symbol of the historic friendship between the peoples of Cuba and Mexico, being the man who put the Granma Yacht in the hands of the Commander in Chief, Fidel Castro Ruz. (ACN)
