

Nabisco workers approve new contract, ending weeks-long strike

Image not found or type unknown

Image Credit: Twitter: @jamiiep72061

New York, September 20 (RHC)-- In labor news, Nabisco workers in five U.S. states have ended a weeks-long strike after union members overwhelmingly approved a new contract that includes a 60-cent-an-hour annual wage increase for the next four years, a $5,000 bonus for all employees, and blocks proposed cuts to workers' healthcare.

Nabisco workers say Nabisco workers approve new contract, ending weeks-long strike they had been forced to work grueling 12- to 16-hour shifts during the pandemic, often including on weekends.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/270956-nabisco-workers-approve-new-contract-ending-weeks-long-strike>

Radio Habana Cuba