

Haitian elections delayed amid mounting crises

Image not found or type unknown

In Haiti, elections planned for November have been postponed until 2022, after Prime Minister Ariel Henry dismissed the electoral council amid the country's mounting political and humanitarian crises.

Port-au-Prince, September 29 (RHC)-- In Haiti, elections planned for November have been postponed until 2022, after Prime Minister Ariel Henry dismissed the electoral council amid the country's mounting political and humanitarian crises.

Meanwhile, the administration of U.S. President Joe Biden is continuing its mass expulsions of Haitian asylum seekers, deporting over 4,000 people in the past 10 days.

Radio Habana Cuba