

Cuba reports 186 new COVID-19 infections, no fatalities

Havana, November 26 (RHC)—Cuban health authorities reported on Friday 186 new COVID-19 infections and no fatalities, continuing the trend in the curbing of the pandemic latest curb on the island.

According to the Public Health Ministry website, as of midnight, there were 1020 active cases hospitalized island-wide.

With the latest update, Cuba now totals 952,508 diagnosed cases and 8,299 deaths associated with the viral respiratory disease.

Camaguey with 35 cases and Las Tunas with 25 were the provinces with the highest number of cases.

Radio Habana Cuba