in the second half the locals won by the minimum 16-15.

For the winners, Klemen Prepelic, with 17 points, and Mike Tobey (16) were outstanding on offense; and for the hosts, Martynas Echodas (16) and Jeff Brooks (11) stood out.

Rivero played just over five minutes, scoring one goal and grabbing two rebounds.

Turning to the collective statistics, Valencia Basket was superior in all departments, including shooting from the field with an effectiveness of 53.6 percent, product of 30 baskets in 56 attempts; by 40.7 % (24/59) of their rivals.

In addition, from the three-point line the Spanish club made 36.0 percent (9/25), and Reyer Venecia a very discreet 12.0 percent, with only three three-pointers in 25 opportunities, according to the official site of the tournament.
