

Secondary students in England to wear masks

Secondary school students in England will be required to wear face masks when they return to classes after the Christmas holidays.

London, January 2 (RHC)-- Secondary school students in England will be required to wear face masks when they return to classes after the Christmas holidays. Education Secretary Nadhim Zahawi said Sunday the move was an attempt to “minimise disruption” in schools as the highly transmissible omicron variant drives coronavirus infections in the UK to record levels.

Similar guidance on masks for students ages 11 and above was already in place for schools in Scotland and Wales.
