Caracas, August 19 (RHC)-- Venezuelan Vice President Delcy Rodríguez has denounced that the fire which took place days ago in a medicine warehouse of the Social Security Institute in Antímamo was arson and accused the extremist sector of the right-wing in the country of this event.

She assured that several pieces of evidence confirmed that the incident was not accidental and an investigation is being carried out to identify those responsible and bring them to justice. Rodríguez specified that those who set fire to the facility wanted to affect the health care of the population, particularly the treatment of dialysis patients, and to cause other damages.

She assured the 7,500 patients requiring dialysis nationwide that they will continue to receive their treatment without mishaps because the medicines are available thanks to the concern of the Government of President Nicolás Maduro for the health of the population, which is an inalienable right.

The Venezuelan Vice-President explained that the fire destroyed four months' stock of medicines for these patients, as well as 134 new machines for dialysis, which were expected to be placed in rooms for this treatment that are being built.

She said that the country has 78 intra-hospital and 50 extra-hospital stations, with dialysis reserves expected to last at least two weeks, in addition to Venezuela's reserves for several months.

And Delcy Rodríguez said that President Maduro instructed to quickly replace the destroyed machines, which is already underway. She pointed out that the national government has worked in a planned manner to have reserves available. A few days ago, a plane with these supplies arrived in the country, and another flight was scheduled to arrive this Thursday.

Delcy Rodríguez said that this fire proves that the violent right-wing seeks by other means what they have not achieved with the unilateral restrictive measures applied against Venezuela.
