

CDC warns of Tripledemic of influenza, RSV and COVID-19

Image not found or type unknown

In the U.S., officials from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention say the United States is now in a flu epidemic, as recorded cases, hospitalizations and deaths nearly doubled over the past week.

Atlanta, November 8 (RHC)-- In the U.S., officials from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention say the United States is now in a flu epidemic, as recorded cases, hospitalizations and deaths nearly doubled over the past week.

There have been at least 730 flu-related deaths in the U.S. Officials warn vaccination rates are decreasing, with adults having received 5 million fewer flu shots in 2022 compared to last year.

Government officials say they are prepared to deploy troops, FEMA personnel, and ventilators as hospitals become overwhelmed with the “triple-demic” of flu, RSV and COVID-19.

This comes as Pfizer announced last week trials of their experimental RSV vaccine were around 80% effective in protecting young infants up to 6 months from severe illness, when administered to pregnant people.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/304311-cdc-warns-of-triple-demic-of-influenza-rsv-and-covid-19>

Radio Habana Cuba