

Israel launches fresh missile attack on Syrian capital in new act of aggression

Image not found or type unknown

This photo released by Syria's official SANA news agency shows an Israeli missile attack on the country's capital on Tuesday, December 20, 2022.

Damascus, December 20 (RHC)-- The Israeli regime has launched a new missile attack on the Syrian capital, Damascus, in a new act of aggression against the Arab country. Syrian media quoted a military source as saying early Tuesday that the attack took place about half an hour after the midnight with bursts of Israeli missiles fired from the northeast of Lake Tiberias, also known as the Sea of Galilee, in the occupied territories.

The military source added that the Israeli missile strike targeted a number of positions in the vicinity of Damascus without causing any loss of life. "Our air defenses intercepted Israeli missiles and shot down a number of them. The attack resulted in the injury of two soldiers," the source said.

Israel frequently carries out missile attacks on targets in Syria, mostly using the airspace of Lebanon or the occupied territories. The Zionist regime launched a similar attack on the Syrian capital in late October, during which most of its missiles were shot down by the Syrian air defenses.

Israel frequently violates Syrian sovereignty by targeting military positions inside the country, especially those of the resistance movement Hezbollah, which has played a key role in helping the Syrian army in its fight against foreign-backed terrorists.

The Tel Aviv regime has been a main supporter of terrorist groups that have battled the government of President Bashar al-Assad since foreign-backed militancy erupted in Syria in early 2011.

Syria has repeatedly complained to the UN over Israeli assaults, urging the Security Council to take action against Tel Aviv's crimes. The calls have, however, fallen on deaf ears. In early November, Syrian Minister of Foreign Affairs and Expatriates Faisal Mekdad strongly condemned the latest Israeli airstrikes, emphasizing that his country will definitely give a crushing response to such acts of aggression at some point in the future.

Damascus will sooner or later respond to recurrent Israeli aggression, Syrian FM pledges "Our position concerning such attacks is fairly clear. We warn the Tel Aviv regime that an adequate response to such hostilities awaits them and it will be given sooner or later," he said.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/308406-israel-launches-fresh-missile-attack-on-syrian-capital-in-new-act-of-aggression>

Radio Habana Cuba