

G-77 + China Meeting in Bolivia Postponed

La Paz, August 16 (RHC) -- A meeting of energy and mining ministers of the G-77 + China grouping scheduled for August 25th and 26th in Bolivia has been postponed until November "due to international events," a government spokesman said Friday.

According to Daniel Beccar, the Energy and Hydrocarbons Ministry's representative for the Tarija region, the meeting's location, Bolivia accepted a UN request to postpone the meeting.

The meeting's agenda includes the management of natural resources and industrialization, with input from the UN Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) and Economic Commission for Latin America and The Caribbean (ECLAC).

The G-77, founded 50 years ago by 77 nations, but now encompassing 133, aims to promote cooperation among developing nations within the UN system.
