

Cuba's foreign minister ratifies island's commitment to the Revolution

Santa Clara workers renewed their commitment to Che, this May 5. Photo taken from @BrunoRguezP

Havana, May 7 (RHC) Cuban Foreign Minister Bruno Rodriguez affirmed on Sunday that the country's loyalty to its Revolution is solid.

From his Twitter profile, the foreign minister said that the Island will remain attached to the decision to fight relentlessly to realize its dreams of prosperity and social justice.

In that social network, Rodríguez shared a fragment of a speech by historic leader, Fidel Castro Ruz (1926-2016), who reflected that "the threats to the peace of humanity come, precisely, from the side of those who defend colonialism, from those who defend imperialism (...) from those who oppose the right of peoples to be free and to enjoy a better life." (Source: Prensa Latina)

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/nacionales/321967-cubas-foreign-minister-ratifies-islands-commitment-to-the-revolution>

Radio Habana Cuba