

Mother says U.S. agents denied medical care to 8-year-old girl who died in custody

Mother says U.S. agents denied medical care to 8-year-old girl who died in custody

El Paso, May 23 (RHC)-- In the U.S., more details have emerged concerning the death of an 8-year-old migrant girl from Panama in the custody of Customs and Border Protection last week.

Anadith Tanay Reyes Álvarez suffered from a congenital heart condition and sickle cell anemia, according to her family. Reyes, her parents and siblings were detained in Texas for over a week. While in custody, Reyes became sick with influenza. She later appeared to have a seizure and had difficulties breathing.

Eye-witnesses say that it wasn't until her body went limp and she began bleeding from the mouth that border agents took her to a local hospital, where the girl was pronounced dead less than an hour after arriving.

Her mother, Mabel Álvarez, told the New York Daily News: "She cried and begged for her life and they ignored her. They didn't do anything for her."

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/323487-mother-says-us-agents-denied-medical-care-to-8-year-old-girl-who-died-in-custody>

Radio Habana Cuba