

Cuba to Celebrate World Sexual Health Day

Havana, September 1 (RHC) — The National Sex Education Center (CENESEX) has announced a number of activities to be held next week as Cuba celebrates World Sexual Health Day.

CENESEX said in a note that the activities dedicated to children and adolescents on issues related to health and sexual rights will be carried out Friday, September 5th at the Pabexpo fairgrounds.

Under the slogan "We Want to Talk about Sex," the agenda includes participatory games and delivery of educational and health information.

For three years, CENESEX has been organizing strategies aimed at stressing the celebration of the World Sexual Health Day, on September 4th, the date established by the World Association for Sexual Health, to promote health and sexual rights.
