

UPS workers in U.S. win fight to get air-conditioned vehicles as union members vote on strike

Image not found or type unknown

A large, thick gray 'X' is drawn over a white square area, which is part of a larger rectangular frame. The 'X' is composed of two diagonal lines crossing in the center. The square it covers is white, contrasting with the gray lines of the 'X' and the surrounding frame.

Image Credit: UPS Teamsters United

Los Angeles, June 14 (RHC)-- In the United States, the United Parcel Service -- UPS -- has agreed to mandate air conditioning in its delivery fleet as part of ongoing negotiations with workers in the Teamsters union.

A number of UPS delivery drivers have become sick from working in extreme temperatures. Last summer, a 24 year-old UPS driver in Southern California died on the job, which his family said was caused by the heat.

This comes as some 330,000 union members are voting to authorize a possible August strike against UPS, in what would be the largest single-employer strike in U.S. history.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/325526-ups-workers-in-us-win-fight-to-get-air-conditioned-vehicles-as-union-members-vote-on-strike>

Radio Habana Cuba