El Paso, July 11 (RHC)-- In the U.S. state of Texas, the white nationalist gunman who killed 23 people at an El Paso Walmart in 2019 has been sentenced to 90 consecutive life terms, after pleading guilty to federal hate crimes and weapons charges.

The gunman still faces murder charges in a state trial that could bring him the death penalty.

The mass shooting nearly four years ago was the deadliest attack on the Latinx community in modern U.S. history. Shortly before the massacre, the shooter published a racist online manifesto echoing President Trump's rhetoric about an "invasion" of immigrants crossing the southern border.
