

ACLU asks court to release children from Angola Prison as heat index tops 130°

New Orleans, July 20 (RHC)-- In the U.S. state of Louisiana, the ACLU filed an emergency plea with a federal court this week asking for the transfer of children incarcerated at the notorious Angola prison.

Advocates say the child prisoners — who are mostly Black — were locked in windowless cells without air conditioning around the clock in the prison's former death row as the heat index inside Angola topped 130 degrees Fahrenheit.
