

Raúl Castro and Díaz-Canel present at debates in the Cuban Parliament

Image not found or type unknown

A working day in pursuit of the welfare of the population. Photo: Vladimir Molina

Havana, July 21 (RHC) -- Army General Raúl Castro Ruz and the first secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba and president of the Republic, Miguel Díaz-Canel are participating this Friday in the continuation of the debates of the National Assembly of People's Power (ANPP-Parliament), at the Havana Convention Palace.

On this second day of the First Ordinary Period of Sessions of the ANPP, in its 10th Legislature, the link between the deputies and the inhabitants of the territories for which they were elected, on food, price control and the energy system are being analyzed.

In addition, the implementation of the Law on Food Sovereignty and Food and Nutritional Security, a regulation that aims to improve the processes of production, transformation, commercialization and consumption of food, based on the endogenous capacities of each locality, is being evaluated.

Photo: Omara García Mederos

The effectiveness of the measures adopted for price control will also be debated by the deputies, since the constant increases in several products and services continue to be a concern of the citizens.

The population is interested in the debates on the current situation and perspectives of the country's energy system, a sector which has suffered instability in recent times due to plant breakdowns and fuel shortages.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/nacionales/329131-raul-castro-and-diaz-canel-present-at-debates-in-the-cuban-parliament>

Radio Habana Cuba