Santiago de Chile, November 3 (RHC)-- Latin American governments have intensified their condemnation of Israel's brutal attacks against Gaza, with Mexico, Peru and Argentina all speaking out this week.

On Thursday, Chilean President Gabriel Boric sharply criticized U.S. support for Israel's assault after talks at the White House with President Biden. Gabriel Boric told reporters: "We do not accept that we are made to choose between one side or the other. We choose humanity. And both these attacks by Hamas have no justification and deserve global condemnation, and what the government of Benjamin Netanyahu is doing today also deserves our clearest condemnation. Our clearest condemnation. The right of a state to defend itself has limits. And those limits are respecting the lives of innocent civilians, especially children, and international humanitarian law.”
