

Chicago's Northwestern University drops case against students who published mock school paper

Chicago, February 9 (RHC)-- In the U.S. state of Illinois, prosecutors have dropped criminal charges against two Northwestern University students who published a mock school newspaper accusing Northwestern of being complicit in the genocide of Palestinians.

In reports from Chicago, local media say the reversal comes after the parent company of The Daily Northwestern faced condemnation and threats to boycott the paper.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/346802-chicagos-northwestern-university-drops-case-against-students-who-published-mock-school-paper>

Radio Habana Cuba