

Taking off the mask

By Guillermo Alvarado

Zionist Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu presented his first program for the post-war period in the Gaza Strip, in which he reveals his intention to maintain absolute control over that territory, which means discarding forever the existence of an independent Palestinian state.

This comes as no surprise, because from the very first moment, when the UN adopted the crazy resolution to split the Palestinian territory in two in order to create an artificial Israeli state, the Zionist movement had a clear intention to occupy the entire region by whatever means necessary.

It is enough to take a cursory look at the evolution of the map of that area decade by decade, to realize how the expansion by means of land theft or military occupation has been unstoppable, which violates the letter and spirit of international agreements.

Under the indifferent gaze of the world community and with the support of the United States and its allies and servants of the European Union, Palestine was reduced to two points separated by more than 90 kilometers, Gaza and the West Bank, and to top it off, both governed by two different currents, which exacerbates the division.

Without wishing to be a prophet of doom, I have no doubt that after the operation against the Strip is over, the guns will be turned on the West Bank and the Palestinian people will become pariahs within their own territory, if they are not expelled to other places, neighboring or remote.

Of course, Tel Aviv does not operate alone, because it has behind it the firm backing of the United States, the main accomplice in this open conspiracy, as well as that of other powers. In fact, in the last few days a group of German lawyers filed a formal accusation before the courts of that European country against the Federal Chancellor, Olaf Scholz, for contributing to and inciting the Zionist genocide against Palestinian civilians.

The indictment includes Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock, as well as her colleagues in Economics, Robert Habeck, and Finance, Christian Lindner, all of whom are accused of "aiding and abetting" the Israeli regime.

According to the jurists, arms exports from Germany to Israel last year amounted to 326 million euros, some 353 million dollars, which is 10 times more than in 2022. It would be interesting to know which other powers, besides the United States, of course, delivered arsenals to Tel Aviv, which had clearly been preparing this onslaught for quite some time.
