Havana, May 24 (RHC) -- “Always think about solutions, assume reasoning that goes beyond the impossible, that adapts to the challenges of now; and take advantage of even what is difficult to do things better. Lessons that are very clear to us after visiting the municipalities of Yara and Banes.”

This was expressed by Miguel Díaz-Canel, First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party (CC PCC) and President of the Republic, from his account on the social network and Banes, in Granma and Holguín respectively.

Accompanied by Roberto Morales Ojeda, member of the Political Bureau and Secretary of Organization of the CC PCC, the Head of State continued this afternoon in Banes with a work system that includes a visit to all the municipalities of the nation, reported on the same social network the Presidency account.

The “Jesús Suárez Gayol” Sugar Railway Company was the first place visited, where the effort and creativity of its workers was put into repairing old locomotives.

In the entity they met a group that, faced with the difficulties of the current harvest, looked for alternatives to maintain vitality by diversifying into machine repairs and passenger transportation.

When touring the workshop facilities, the president expressed that creative resistance is evident there.

Another point on the tour was the Banes Municipal Agroindustrial Company, where its group of more than 240 workers seeks to bring the municipality closer to achieving greater sovereignty.

The President toured some of the planted areas of one of the farms and learned that the entity still does not satisfy the local diet, although its results until April are better than in a similar period last year in crops such as beans and bananas. (Source: ACN)
