

Universities of Cuba and Mexico strengthen ties

The agreement between the faculties of the Mexican and Cuban universities will allow academic exchange of students and professors, joint research work, among other benefits

Havana, September 2 (RHC) The Faculty of Public Accounting of the Benemérita Universidad Autónoma de Puebla, in Mexico, and the Faculty of Economics and Business Sciences, of the Ignacio Agramonte Loynaz University of Camagüey, in Cuba, signed this Monday a collaboration agreement that strengthens the links between both educational institutions.

According to doctor of Sciences María Antonieta Moserrat Vera Muñoz, director of the Faculty of Public Accounting, the agreement brings multiple mutual benefits such as the academic exchange of students and professors, joint research work, publication of articles and participation in events, and the possibility of achieving a double degree for students and of completing master's and doctoral programs.

For her part, doctor of Sciences Dayanis Socarrás Viamontes, dean of the Economics and Business Sciences Faculty of the Camagüey university, commented that the doctoral program of Accounting and Financial Sciences will soon hold the category of Excellence. Starting the signing of the agreement, Mexican professors will be able to access this program to achieve said scientific degree.

The universities have a more than three decade ties, and the agreement signed this Monday is the first between the two aforementioned faculties.

The event, which took place at the Camagüey headquarters of the National Association of Economists and Accountants of Cuba, is part of a program carried out by directors of the Mexican Faculty in Camagüey until September 4.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/nacionales/364265-universities-of-cuba-and-mexico-strengthen-ties>

Radio Habana Cuba