New York, September 20 (RHC)-- Resistance to Israel's U.S.-backed war on Gaza continues on college campuses as the new school year gets underway with more protests and calls to divest from Israel.

On Wednesday, Cornell students shut down a career fair featuring weapons manufacturers supplying Israel's genocide in Gaza.

Meanwhile, a chapter of the activist group Students for Justice in Palestine is suing the University of Maryland in College Park after the school canceled an October 7th Gaza vigil.
