

No Votes for Genocide: Protesters in New York City decry U.S. support for Israel ahead of presidential elections

New York, November 4 (RHC)-- Protesters have taken to the streets in major U.S. cities to demand "No Votes for Genocide." Protesters decried both Kamala Harris and Donald Trump for supporting Israel's war on Gaza and refusing to back an arms embargo on Israel.

Participants at the protest included Claudia de la Cruz, who is running for president on the Party for Socialism and Liberation ticket. Claudia de la Cruz said: "We are here to remind the capitalist state that there is an entire movement of hundreds of thousands of people all across this country that has been demanding a ceasefire, that has been demanding an arms embargo, that has been demanding an end to the expansion of genocide and war in the Middle East, and that we have not been heard. We have not been considered. And in that same way, we will engage in our political right not to engage with a two-party system that continuously insists on paying for and bombing babies across the Middle East.”
