Washington, November 12 (RHC)-- Donald Trump has named Stephen Miller as White House Deputy Chief of Staff for Policy. Miller is the architect of Trump's zero-tolerance immigration policies, including family separations, and has a well-documented history of promoting white nationalist theories.

Stephen Miller co-authored President Trump's 2017 inaugural address, which painted a dark picture of "American carnage." Just ahead of the election, Miller declared at a Madison Square Garden rally for Trump: "America is for Americans and Americans only!"

The slogan echoed the Nazi slogan: "Germany for Germans only."
