The Prime Minister of the Zionist State of Israel, Benjamin Netanyahu, reported that he had issued a decree authorizing the transfer of the Jewish population to the Golan Heights, which is the continuation of a pirate policy to expand his country in violation of the entire international order.

This territory was historically part of Syrian sovereignty, but after the resounding fall of Bashar al-Assad's government, Tel Aviv has already made a move to appropriate a piece of another nation's territory, with no known refusal so far.

Since the Six-Day War in 1967, Zionist troops have occupied much of the Golan, although there have been periodic military skirmishes and, on one occasion, the partial expulsion of the Hezbollah group.

At the moment, the whole correlation of forces favors the Zionists, with Hezbollah weakened, Syria without a clear direction and Iran trying to maintain calm in the area so as not to provoke a full-scale war, which seems to be getting closer and closer.

Moreover, all Israeli moves are fully supported by the United States and the warmongering NATO member countries.

The genocide against the Palestinian people in the Gaza Strip, where the aim is to eliminate most of the population, whether men, women, children or elderly, is in line with this.

When the slaughter is over, the survivors will be expelled to other countries and the Strip will be filled with new Jewish colonies.

Zionism has experience in these tasks, since it was the main advisor, supplier of weapons, aircraft and ammunition, as well as communications and intelligence systems during the internal armed conflict in Guatemala.
