

Literally cashing in on the Presidency: Donald and Melania Trump launch their own cryptocurrencies

New York, January 20 (RHC)-- Donald Trump has launched his own cryptocurrency, which quickly soared to nearly $12 billion in value.

Ethics experts questioned the legality of the move, which has already dramatically increased Trump's wealth by billions of dollars — at least on paper.

Adav Noti of the Campaign Legal Center told The New York Times: "It is literally cashing in on the presidency ... It is beyond unprecedented."

On Sunday, Trump's wife Melania also launched her own cryptocurrency. This comes as Donald Trump has vowed to deregulate the cryptocurrency sector.
