

Israel builds military bases in Syria after ouster of Bashar al-Assad

Damascus, February 5 (RHC)-- Al Jazeera has published satellite images that show Israel is building out seven military bases within the demilitarized buffer zone with Syria following the ouster of Bashar al-Assad in December.

One of the bases is being built outside the buffer zone, inside Syrian territory. Israel's incursions into Syria violate a 1974 truce that designated the area of the Golan Heights as a buffer zone.
