

U.S. attacks on Yemen kill more civilians in Sanaa

Sanaa, March 26 (RHC)-- The U.S. continues to attack Yemen after Houthi fighters threatened to renew strikes on Red Sea vessels over Israel's resumption of its all-out war on Gaza. On Monday, U.S. airstrikes in Sana'a killed at least two people and wounded over a dozen others, including children.

This is a local resident who witnessed the attack.

Hafezallah Saleh Al Hamidi: “A brutal American-Israeli aggression targeted civilians in a residential area that had no weapons or warehouses as the Americans claim, only innocent civilians. They bombed an empty basement with nothing in it. The residents of nearby buildings were harmed. Among them, people, and even children, were injured.”
