

Havana International Trade Fair Comes to a Close on Friday

Havana, November 7 (RHC), -- After six days of fruitful exchange among entrepreneurs and officials from over 60 nations of the world, the 32nd Havana International Trade Fairs will be closed during an awarding ceremony on Friday at the city's Conventions Hall.

Business rounds, the signing of accords, entrepreneurial forums and the presentation of the Cuban portfolio of projects for foreign investment marked the event, which was dedicated to encourage investors to look at important Cuban economic areas, such as agriculture, tourism, agriculture, biotechnology and renewable energy.

Considered the largest fair of its kind over the past 12 years, the fair was attended by nearly 5 thousand companies from 62 nations, which exhibited their products and services at Havana's Expocuba exhibition grounds.
