

Report Says U.S. Drone Strikes Kill 28 Unnamed People for Every One Target

Washington, November 25 (RHC)-- A new report finds U.S. drone strikes kill 28 unidentified people for every one intended target. While the Barack Obama administration has claimed its drone strikes are precise, the group Reprieve found that strikes targeting 41 people in Yemen and Pakistan have killed more than 1,000 other, unnamed people.

The 41 targets have been reported killed as many as six times each. In its attempts to kill al-Qaeda leader Ayman al-Zawahiri alone, the CIA killed 76 children and 29 adults. The report notes that they missed and Al-Zawahiri is still alive.
